Pacific Rebekah Lodge No. 1 will UNNECESSARY VERSE IN VAUDEVILLE SONG

The closing production of the Casino Musical Comedy Company is attracting good houses and is proving to be rather a winner. It is unfortunate, however, that Miss Mabel Bunyea is repeating one of the songs which had to be criticized on her first appearance. The words of one verse of "You're in for the Night" are vulgar in the extreme in their suggestiveness and that verse few months ago en route to the States has no place either in the New Orpheum program or in Miss Banyea's repertoire. The prettiness and the daintiness which Miss Bunyea has the good fortune to possess in a marked degree require no accompaniment of the suggestive to make her a success. It is probably true that the taste of he patrons of vaudeville on the mainland has come down to the level of such songs, but Honolulu has not yet, fortunately, reached that stage, and what many admire in Miss Bunyea's work is spoiled altogether by the bad taste the rest of it leaves in the mouth. Such verses are quite unnecessary and should be cut out for the rest of the

A thrilling picture of "Life Across home office may perform the work with the Plains" started the ball rolling put ting the audience in eager expectancy for the vaudeville numbers. Clarence Tisdale, the peer of all tenors, sang "Wait Till the Clouds Pass" so beautifully that he was compelled to respond several times. While the audience was HAS RICH VESTMENTS duced by Mr. Tisdale's beautiful singing, there came mirth-provoking "Rosster" Wise in a coon absurdity entitled "She Never Even Said Aloha," which atholic Mission has a fine new set of made the house burst with laughter and applause.

The climax was reached when Wise and Milton presented their "Hawaiian Surprise Party," which proved to be the real surprise of the evening, introducing Milton's original "Sweet Mo-This is one of the most beautiful songs of the year and was so ably rendered by Katie Milton with the assistance of the chorus of Hawaiian boys, which alone is worth double the price of admission. He paid and waving their banners to the tune of the Stars and Stripes. This made Wise and Milton's "Hawaiian Eurprise Party" one of the grandest and most spectacular shows ever attempted on a vandeville stage.

SWILL WAGON OUT FOR A JOY RIDE

There was wild excitement and considerable language along Beretania avenue between Central Union Church and the Institute of Osteopathy yesterday morning, when a horse attached to a loaded swill wagon became possessed of the idea that he was a joy ride and proceeded to make good. His wagon missed Doctor Hodgin's waiting machine, slopped over a little on Doctor Hoffmann's and delivered the rest of the swill on the front platform of a Rapid Transit ear, waiting on the switch. The only thing hurt was the feelings of the Rapid Transit conductor, who had to wipe down the ear and remove the signs of the accident.
